LASER TATTOO REMOVAL

What you need to know before your session.

How should I prepare?

Do NOT expose the skin to U.V whether sun exposure or tanning beds for at least 4 weeks prior to your appointment.

Protect the skin from sun exposure with sun creams SPF30+ before and between sessions but DO NOT use sun blocking creams within 24 hours of your appointment.

Do NOT wax, epilator, pluck or thread the area before (or between) laser session. Shaving is ok.

Do NOT wear perfumes, deodorants, essential oils etc before your appointment.

Do NOT use microdermabrasion or chemical peel treatments for at least a week prior to your laser session.

The more informed you are about the process, the more realistic your expectations will be. We advise you to research before making your decision.

What does laser treatment feel like?

You'll probably hear varying opinions on how laser treatment feels, but it's a very personal experience. It's no worse than getting a tattoo!

How long will it take to remove?

Everybody's skin is different. Removal factors depend on your personal healing time, skin type and the actual inks used in your tattoo.

Some colours are easy to remove whereas some will take a few extra sessions. Be aware that if you are opting for complete removal as opposed to fading prior to a tattoo cover up, it will take longer. As will larger tattoos that cover a greater surface area.

What should I bring?

You might find these pre-session tips helpful.

- Loose fitting comfortable clothing
- Plenty of water to keep you hydrated
- Cash for your session and aftercare as we are unable to take card payments.
